Guided Composition

1.

How do movies or television influence people's behavior? Use reasons and specific examples to support your answer. Write at least 70 words. You may find the following words to be helpful: character, content, emotion, affect, thinking, violence.

Movies and television wield significant influence over people's behavior due to their ability to shape perceptions, emotions, and values. Characters and storylines can deeply resonate with viewers, impacting their thinking and actions. For instance, exposure to violent content may desensitize individuals to real-life violence, potentially increasing aggressive behavior. Similarly, positive portrayals of certain behaviors can inspire emulation. Thus, media content plays a crucial role in shaping societal norms and individual behavior.

Neighbors are the people who live near us. In your opinion, what are the qualities of a good neighbor? Use specific details and examples in your answer. Write at least 70 words. You may find the following words to be helpful: rights, respect, visit, support, avoid, harm.

A good neighbor embodies qualities of respect, support, and consideration. They respect boundaries and rights, understanding the importance of privacy while being approachable for assistance when needed. Good neighbors offer support during tough times, whether it's lending a listening ear or helping with practical tasks. They avoid causing harm or disturbances and maintain a friendly demeanor. For example, a good neighbor might regularly check in on elderly neighbors or offer to help with household chores during busy times.

In some countries, teenagers have jobs while they are still students. Do you think this is a good idea? Support your opinion by using specific reasons and details. Write at least 70 words. You may find the following words and phrases to be helpful: support, benefit, experience, independent, character, skills, free time.

Having a job while still a student can be beneficial for teenagers in several ways. Firstly, it provides them with valuable work experience, teaching responsibility and time management skills. Secondly, earning their own money fosters independence and a sense of accomplishment. Moreover, having a job can help teenagers develop character and work ethic. However, it's crucial to ensure that the workload doesn't overwhelm them and that they still have adequate free time for studies and extracurricular activities.

A person you know is planning to move to your city. What do you think this person would like and dislike about living in your city? Why? Use specific reasons and details to develop your essay. Write at least 70 words. You may find the following words to be helpful: cost, traffic, entertainment, amazing, sights, nature.

If someone I know were to move to my city, they would likely appreciate its vibrant entertainment scene and diverse culinary options. The city boasts amazing cultural sights and a thriving arts community. Additionally, its proximity to nature with parks and outdoor recreational areas would be appealing. However, they might dislike the high cost of living and the notorious traffic congestion, which could impact their daily commute and leisure activities. Overall, the city offers a rich tapestry of experiences, but its drawbacks include expenses and transportation challenges.

You may find the following words to be helpful: culture, visit, region, wonderful, different, sightseeing, nature, festivals.

For a foreign visitor with just one day in my country, they should head to the vibrant capital city. Here, they can experience the rich cultural tapestry, visit iconic landmarks, and indulge in diverse cuisine. From exploring historical sites to immersing themselves in bustling markets, the capital offers a wonderful blend of tradition and modernity. Additionally, they can partake in cultural festivals, witness colorful celebrations, and even enjoy the natural beauty of urban parks. This bustling city provides a comprehensive snapshot of the country's culture, history, and lifestyle in just one day.

Do you agree or disagree with the following statement? Only people who earn a lot of money are successful. Use specific reasons and examples to support your answer. Write at least 70 words. You may find the following words to be helpful: career, invest, case, idea, popular, influence.

It is hard to believe that only people who earn a lot of money are successful. Success is subjective and can be defined in various ways beyond financial wealth. For some, success may mean achieving personal fulfillment, making a positive impact on others, or pursuing passions and hobbies. Many individuals find success in their careers by making meaningful contributions to their fields, regardless of their income level. Additionally, success can be measured by factors such as personal growth, happiness, and the ability to lead a fulfilling life, irrespective of monetary wealth.

You have the opportunity to visit a foreign country for two weeks. Which country would you like to visit? Use specific reasons and details to explain your choice. Write at least 70 words. You may find the following words to be helpful: culture, visit, region, wonderful, different, sightseeing, nature, festivals.

I would love to visit Japan for two weeks. Japan offers a wonderful blend of traditional culture and modern innovation. From the bustling streets of Tokyo to the serene temples of Kyoto, there's a wealth of sightseeing opportunities. I'm fascinated by Japanese cuisine, and I'd love to explore the diverse flavors and dining experiences. Additionally, Japan's natural beauty, including its majestic mountains and tranquil gardens, is incredibly appealing. I'm also intrigued by the country's vibrant festivals and the opportunity to immerse myself in its rich cultural heritage.

A phobia is an intense, irrational fear of a specific situation, activity, or thing. What are the common types of phobias? Write at least 70 words. You may find the following words to be helpful: feel, fear, suffer, panic attack, enclosed, avoid, places.

There are hundreds of different kinds of phobias, but only a handful are very common. One of these phobias is the fear of heights (acrophobia). People with acrophobia may have a panic attack when looking out the window of a tall building. Another common phobia is the fear of being in confined spaces (claustrophobia). People with claustrophobia feel trapped when they are in small, enclosed places like elevators. On the other hand, some people who suffer from agoraphobia fear being in large, wide-open spaces. Agoraphobics generally avoid places like shopping malls, stadiums, and other crowded places.

Advertisements are an inescapable part of our daily lives. How does advertisements affect families spending habits? Write at least 70 words. You may find the following words to be helpful: impact, unnecessary items, portray product, essential, relationship, financial stress, priorities, budget.

Advertisements can impact family spending habits by encouraging impulse purchases and desires for unnecessary items. When ads portray products as essentials for happiness, families may overspend to keep up with these perceived standards. This can strain relationships as financial stress mounts. Additionally, conflicting spending priorities can lead to disagreements among family members. To reduce these effects, families can practice mindful spending, set clear budgets, and focus on shared goals to strengthen their relationships and financial well-being.
