Listen to the advice about traveling to the United States.
Then answer true or false.

☒ False

☒ True

1. F Gestures are very similar all over the world.
2. F Americans usually introduce themselves with their last names.
3. F Americans like to stand really close when they are talking to others.
4. T People are expected to arrive on time at all events in the United States.
5. T It's polite for house guests to give a small gift in the United States.

1. false (Gestures vary from country to country.)
2. false (Americans introduce themselves with first names.)
3. false (Americans like to keep their distance.)

There are certain things that you should be aware of when you travel to a foreign country. Patterns of behavior that are acceptable in your country may actually be insulting to people in other cultures. Body language also varies. Gestures that mean one thing in your culture may not be understood or may have a different meaning in another culture. If you're going to travel to the U.S. as a tourist, as a student, or on business, it's advisable to observe the following:

Americans usually shake hands when they first meet people and business acquaintances. They greet others by making eye contact and smiling, and it is also common to introduce people using first names. In general, they like to keep their distance, and are uncomfortable if someone moves in really close. The acceptable distance is approximately 40 centimeters, about an arm's length.

Americans are very punctual and are not tolerant of lateness for social occasions, and especially for business meetings. Being late for a meeting or an appointment is considered a sign of disrespect. Most business entertainment takes place in restaurants. It is not common for Americans to bring business into their homes. When they become friends, they might invite colleagues for a meal to their house. Guests are not expected to bring gifts, but a small token, such as chocolates or flowers, is usually well received.

Going (12. go) to the beach with others was really important. I remembered To have (13. have) fun!

Language Builder

Point out that expect (and other verbs like ask, need, want) can be used with or without a noun or pronoun. For example: She expects to arrive on time. She expects Sam to arrive on time.

Allow must be followed by a noun or pronoun. For example: His mother allowed Fahd to go to the park.

Teaching Tip

To make your lessons interesting and relevant to students' lives, you might need to do research before class to find information that students will like to know. For example, students will be happy to get information in English about strange customs in other countries.

Additional Activity

In groups, ask students to talk about some of the things they absolutely refuse to do. For example: I refuse to eat broccoli. I refuse to watch (TV program) on TV. I refuse to lend my computer to (person). Have the rest of the group ask: Why do you refuse to eat broccoli/watch (TV program)/lend your computer to (person)? Have students tell why.

- In different cultures, people line or queue up differently. People in England are considered the best at queuing. They will wait patiently in a line for long periods of time.
- In many parts of the world, people do not queue up in this manner. They simply crowd up and try to be next for service.
