J READING

Read the article about the White House. Then answer true or false.

The White House is the official residence and main workplace of the President of the United States. It is in Washington, D.C., and was built between 1792 and 1800. The White House has four stories—the Ground Floor, State Floor, Second Floor, and Third Floor, plus a two-story basement. Today, the White House Complex includes the Executive Residence (where the president and his family live), the West Wing (the location of the Oval Office), the East Wing, and the Old Executive Office Building, which houses the executive offices of the President and Vice President.

There are many famous rooms in the White House. The Entrance Hall is the primary and formal entrance. It is located on the State Floor, and is entered from Pennsylvania Avenue. It opens to the Grand Staircase, which connects the State Floor to the Second Floor of the building. There are three state parlors on the State Floor of the White House: The Green Room, The Blue Room, and the Red Room. They are each decorated in shades of their respective color and have been used for small receptions, and teas.

The East Room is the largest room in the White House. It is used for entertaining, press conferences, ceremonies, and occasionally for a large dinner. The White House's oldest possession, a portrait of George Washington that was painted in 1797, hangs in the East Room next to a portrait of his wife, Martha Washington, which was painted in 1878.

The State Dining Room is the larger of two dining rooms on the State Floor of the White House. It is used for receptions, luncheons, and larger formal dinners. The room seats 140 guests. The Family Dining Room is also located on the State Floor. The room is used for smaller, more private meals than those served in the State Dining Room. Today the president uses the Family Dining Room less for family and more for working lunches and small dinners. Family dinners are usually served on the second floor in the President's Dining Room.

Minaret of Jam, Afghanistan

The Minaret of Jam stands in a remote valley, surrounded by barren mountains. It was built in the 12th century and it is the only well-preserved building of the period. It is 65 meters tall and was built with baked-bricks. The circular minaret, which rests on an octagonal base, had two wooden balconies and a lantern at the top.

The minaret is famous for its intricate decoration of calligraphy etched in stucco and glazed turquoise ceramics. It was nominated Afghanistan's first World Heritage Site in 2002.

Salwa Palace, KSA

Salwa Palace is the largest palace in the historical at-Turaif district of ad-Dir'iyah. It was the first palace built by Imam Mohammad Bin Saud in 1750. His successors later added to the complex, which includes 7 main units, a mosque, an audience hall, a treasury, and a well, which cover some 10,000 m<sup>2</sup>.

Salwa Palace is a unique example of Nadji architecture and illustrates the ingenious use of adobe, not only as a material suited for the extreme desert climate, but as a means to create beautiful geometric designs. At-Turaif was inscribed on the World Heritage List in 2010. It has been restored to a large extent, and it has the potential to become one of the biggest living heritage museums in the world.

Burj Khalifa, UAE

Burj Khalifa in Dubai, at 828 meters, is the tallest building in the world, topping the previous record holder, Taipei 101, by 319 meters. It is also called "the Needle" because of its top section that gets as thin as a needle as it tapers to the top.

The building took six years to complete and was officially opened in January 2010. It has 168 floors, which is the highest number in the world, but not all of them are large enough to use as residence or office space. The skyscraper accommodates more than 900 luxury apartments, 49 floors of offices, and a 7-star Armani Hotel with 160 rooms.

1. What is the shape of the Minaret of Jam? a circular minaret which rests on an octagonal base.

2. What is special about the use of adobe at Salwa Palace? _____

I READING

Read the article and answer the questions.

The Boston Red Sox

Baseball, often called "America's Pastime," is considered by many to be the most popular sport in the U.S. One of the oldest and most famous baseball teams in the world is the Boston Red Sox. The club was founded in 1901, as one of eight teams in the American League. They were a dominant team in the new league—winning their first World Series in 1903. They won four more championships by 1918. Since 1912, the Red Sox's home ballpark has been Fenway Park.

The Sale Of The Bambino

While the first seventeen years in Red Sox history were successful, after the 1918 win, they went into one of the longest championship droughts in baseball history. In 1919, Red Sox owner Frazee sold famous slugger Babe Ruth, who had played the previous six seasons for the Red Sox, to the rival New York Yankees. Even though Ruth had just broken the single-season home run record, hitting 29 in 1919, Frazee sold him. Legend has it that Frazee did so in order to finance a Broadway play. Many people said that they would lose for 100 years because they had sold Babe Ruth, who was also known as the Bambino.

Evidence Of The Myth

Over the years, the Red Sox had many excellent players, but nonetheless, they were never able to win the World Series. They came closest in 1986, when they lost the final game in extra innings because a slow ground ball rolled through the first baseman's legs. This infamous moment in baseball history fed the myth that the Red Sox were destined to lose for the rest of their career.

Ending The Losing Streak

Finally, the losing streak ended in 2004, when the team won their sixth World Series Championship. Since 2003, the Red Sox have competed in five American League Champion Series, have won two World Series in 2007 and 2013, and have emerged as arguably one of the most successful Major League Baseball teams of the last two decades.

1. What is the name of the Red Sox home stadium?

The name of the Red Sox home stadium is Fenway Park.

2. How did the Red Sox do in the early years?

They did well. They won the World Series five times.

3. What started the myth about the Red Sox?

Selling Babe Ruth to the New York Yankees started the curse

4. How did they lose the 1986 World Series Championship?

The ball rolled through the first baseman's legs.

5. When did the losing streak finally end?

It finally ended in 2004.

Read the texts and write which sports are being described. Choose 5 sports from the list. Underline the words and/or phrases that helped you.

football	hockey	ping pong/table tennis	volleyball	basketball	badminton
baseball	taekwondo	tennis	polo	squash

1. baseball

A bat and ball sport played between two teams of nine players each. The objective of the game is to score runs by hitting a ball with a bat and touching the four bases arranged at the corners of a ninety-foot square or diamond-shaped field. Teams take turns batting and fielding. The fielding team tries to stop three hitters of the batting team from touching the base. The players on the batting team take turns hitting the ball that the pitcher of the fielding team throws. It has become the national sport of the United States.

2. basketball

A team sport in which two teams of five players try to score points by throwing a ball through a hoop mounted on a backboard. The team with the most points at the end of the game wins. The ball can be advanced on the court by bouncing it while running or passing it to a teammate. Players are not allowed to take steps carrying the ball in their hands. Rule violations are called "fouls."

3. ping pong/table tennis

It is a game that can be played by two or four players. The players hit a lightweight, hollow ball back and forth using rackets as they stand at the two ends of a hard table divided by a net. Players have to hit the ball to return it to their opponent after only one bounce. The pace of the game is very quick and players need to react accordingly.

4. Taekwondo

It is claimed to be the world's most popular martial art. A loose translation of its name could be "the art of the foot and fist" or "the art of kicking and punching." It combines combat techniques, self-defense, exercise, as well as philosophy.

5. Tennis

It originated in Britain in the late 19th century. It is usually played between two players (singles) or two teams of two players each (doubles). Each player uses a racket to strike a hollow rubber ball covered with felt over a net and into the opponent's side of the court. The surface of the court is usually clay, asphalt, or grass.

How to Write a Funny Joke

In order to learn how to write a joke that will make people laugh, you first need to consider what makes a joke funny. One common type of joke is one that shows the irony of a situation. This is when the listener's assumptions about the world are the opposite of the reality in the joke. In addition, you will need to consider your audience. You will get more laughs over different types of jokes with your friends at school than you will with your grandparents.

The Setup: Setting up your joke is important. The setup should tell the audience who the characters are. Also, if it's relevant, it should tell us where and when the joke is happening. Next, the joke should go on to explain the details of the situation. Be careful not to make your joke too long or too confusing. Keep it simple and stick to the point. Also, effective jokes have easy ways to differentiate the characters, like the first man and the second man, or the father mouse and the young mouse.

The Punch Line: The first rule in writing a good joke is that every joke needs a punch line and, more importantly, a punch word to make the audience laugh. The punch line turns the idea of the joke. Suddenly, the audience can see that their assumptions are different than the reality of the situation in the joke. In a well-written joke, the punch line is the last line of the joke, and the punch word is the last word of the punch line. This is important because otherwise people don't know when to laugh. They will start to laugh, but then stop because they will think that the joke is not over yet.

Looking at a Joke: Now let's look at the joke about the parrot that attends a lecture. It's on the first page of Unit 9 of your Student Book. The joke starts:

This gives us a clear picture of who the characters are (a student, a parrot, and another student), where the characters are (outside a lecture theater), and when it is taking place (after the lecture).

The joke continues:

He stops him and says, "I'm sorry to bother you, but I have to say, I was astonished by your parrot's remarkable reaction to the lecture on ancient history. He seemed frightened at the frightening parts, sad at the depressing parts, fascinated at the interesting parts, and amused at the funny parts. I could have sworn I even heard it laugh. I have to say, I was amazed. Don't you find it surprising?" "Yes," he replies, "I was very surprised..."

This is the body of the joke. It explains what has happened. (The parrot was listening to the lecture and seemed to understand it.) It also gives us a clear picture of the other student's assumption (which is likely shared by the audience) that parrots shouldn't be able to understand lectures. The student's question "Don't you find it surprising?" indicates that he assumes the student with the parrot will agree with him, and when he says "I was very surprised" it seems to be confirmed.

The joke finishes:

He hated the class!

"He hated the class!" is the punch line, and "class" is the punch word. By mention of the word "class" the audience knows that the parrot can attend class, and the student thinks it's normal. This juxtaposes the assumption of the listener with the reality of the situation, which in turn, makes the audience laugh!

1. b irony
  2. c assumption
  3. e audience
  4. f stick to the point
  5. a indicate
  6. d juxtapose
- a. be a sign of
  - b. when the reality is the opposite of the meaning
  - c. guess
  - d. put beside; contrast
  - e. people that are listening or watching
  - f. stay on topic

I Read the jokes and choose the best punch line. Underline the punch word.

Which tire was flat?

The chemical formula!

Well, you told us it's H to O.

You don't have any books.

Who was driving?

I am... Tess.

I won't get sick.

I won't have to write anything, right?

I am the ninth letter of the alphabet.

What happened to all the books?

Four high school boys were late for their morning classes. After lunch they reported to the teacher that they had had a flat tire on the way to school.

Much to their relief, the teacher smiled and said: "Well, you missed the test, so sit down and take out a piece of paper." He waited for them to sit down.

Then he said: "First Question:

Who was driving?

Teacher : Brian, what is the chemical formula for water?

Brian : H I J K L M N O.

Teacher : What are you saying?

Brian :

Well, you told us it's H to O.

Teacher : Tess, give me a sentence starting with "I."

Tess : I is...

Teacher : No, Tess... Always say, "I am."

Tess : All right...

I am the ninth letter of the alphabet

A class of fifth graders was riding along in a school bus, happy to be on an educational trip. The teacher told them that they would write about what they saw for their homework. Most of them were looking out the windows and pointing to different things. All of a sudden, the teacher noticed that a boy was sitting on the floor, between the seats, with his hands over his eyes. "Why are you sitting like that? Are you OK?"

"Well," said the boy, "if I don't see anything, I won't have to write anything, right?"

Student : Mr. Smith, I ain't got no books.

Teacher : Young man, you mean, I don't have any books. You don't have any books. We don't have any books. They don't have any books. Do you see what I'm getting at?

Student : I think so.

What happened to all the books?

G Read the account of a real incident that caused a lot of laughter and answer the questions.

My father was sitting at his desk, talking to a patient. He was a dedicated medical doctor and used to get very absorbed in his work. This often prevented him from noticing other mundane things around him, such as untidiness, worn out hinges, nails that were about to come off the wall, etc.

Anyway, he started looking for some medication that he had left on his desk. He was obviously not happy when he realized that someone must have gone in to tidy up in his absence, against his express wishes not to touch anything on his desk. Feeling quite annoyed he banged his hand on the desk, upon which the patient was startled and jumped up as a large painting that was on the wall over my father's chair and desk, came down, was ripped when it landed on his head, and ended up resting on his shoulders like a huge rectangular collar. Fortunately, he was not hurt. It was a very old oil painting and the canvas must have been quite fragile.

The patient, who was initially horrified, stood there trying to suppress his laughter with my father glaring at him, livid with anger, until he stole a look in the mirror diagonally opposite his desk and saw himself collared by the painting, with his head sticking out. He started laughing so hard, they couldn't get the painting off him. And as this kind of laughter happens to be quite infectious everyone who was there witnessing the scene couldn't stop laughing either. He later said that the sight was so surreal, he could not help himself. He never had another painting above his desk after that, but would chuckle for months when he entered his office and saw the mark on the wall. He grudgingly let someone paint the wall nearly a year later.

1. Where did the incident take place?

At a doctor's office.

2. Who were the people involved?

The doctor and a patient.

3. What caused the painting to fall?

The banging on the desk and a loose nail.

4. Did anyone get hurt?

No, not really.

5. What was the doctor's initial reaction?

He was livid with anger.

6. What caused him to start laughing uncontrollably?

Seeing himself in the mirror, collared by the painting with his head sticking out.

to remind him of the incident

Fast Food: The Typical Food of the U.S.?

If you ask people from around the world what the typical food of their country is, most of them have an answer. The Brazilians will tell you feijoada, the Koreans will tell you kimchi, and the Spaniards will tell you paella. However, if you ask someone from the U.S., they usually aren't sure. They might say apple pie or pizza or beef burgers, or they might say they don't have one. Yet others might tell you that typical American food is McDonald's. In fact, with a long history that is deeply integrated with U.S. culture, McDonald's and fast food may just be typical of the U.S.

The history of McDonald's is a good example of the American Dream—the idea that with hard work, anyone can build a successful life in the United States. In the early 1930s, brothers Dick and Mac McDonald left their native New Hampshire to make it big in California. After several years, they had not done as well as they had hoped, so they decided to leave. They had saved enough money to open a small drive-in sandwich stand in Southern California, which became their next venture. After three successful years, they decided to open a bigger restaurant, this time serving mostly beef burgers. The restaurant did exceedingly well and the brothers got rich, partially due to the low prices they charged for a burger. People would stand in line to buy bags of beef burgers.

By the late 1940s, the brothers were tired of the work that went into running a restaurant, and came up with the Speedee Service System as a new way of operating. They served mostly burgers and foods that could be eaten without a fork, knife, or spoon. They started using paper plates, cups and bags, and using assembly lines in the kitchen that were similar to the ones used in factories. All of the burgers were prepared the same with ketchup, mustard, pickles and onions, and no substitutions. It was the birth of a true self-service restaurant, which later became a franchise company that allowed other owners to open McDonald's. By the late 1950s, their operation had been bought and expanded by Ray Kroc who founded the present-day McDonald's Corporation. Today, the McDonald's Corporation is the world's largest chain of fast food restaurants, serving nearly 47 million customers worldwide every day.

There is also much criticism of McDonald's that is centered around its menu and its business practices. In 2002, Morgan Spurlock's film Supersize Me! said that McDonald's was contributing to the obesity epidemic in the U.S. and targeting children in their advertising.

McDonald's has responded to some of this criticism by no longer making foods with trans-fats and using partially recycled paper products. It will no doubt continue to be criticized, just as it will likely continue to be successful.

5- That they serve fattening food and target children in their advertising.

I Read the list of ingredients for the pasta salad. Are there any ingredients that you don't like? What would you replace them with? Would you add anything?

Pasta salad

- 500 grams bow-shaped pasta
- 1 yellow, 1 red, and 1 green pepper, diced
- 1 cup parsley, finely chopped
- ½ cup spring onion, finely chopped
- 1 ½ cup mayonnaise or yogurt dressing
- 300-400 grams tinned tuna fillet
- Salt
- Pepper
- Soy sauce and Tabasco sauce (optional)

Number the instructions in the right order.

- 5 Put the pasta in a large bowl and mix in the tuna and the vegetables. Add the mayonnaise and stir.
- 6 Add a dash of Tabasco sauce.
-  1 Boil the pasta in a large pan of water with  $\frac{1}{2}$  a tablespoon of salt and 1-2 tablespoons of olive oil for about 12-15 minutes.
- 9 Serve cold with slices of tomato and cucumber.
- 2 Rinse and let it cool in a colander.
- 8 Cover the bowl with cling wrap or foil and leave in the refrigerator for about two hours.
- 3 Chop parsley and spring onions finely, dice the peppers, and put them in a bowl.
- 7 Add salt, pepper, and a dash of soy sauce.
- 4 Take the tuna out of the tin and mash it with a fork. Then mix it in with the chopped vegetables.

Mythical Animals

There are many animals that are mythical, or not real. It is agreed that most mythical animals, such as a dragon or a unicorn, truly are myth. However, with others, such as Bigfoot, the Chupacabra, and the Loch Ness Monster, there is more of a debate. Read on, and then you can decide for yourself if you think they are real or myth.

Bigfoot

There have been numerous sightings of a large, hairy creature known as Bigfoot. It is believed that this creature roams the forests of North America and looks like an enormous ape that walks on two feet. It is said that the same or similar creatures are found around the world under different regional names, most prominently the Yeti of the Himalayas. Witnesses have described Bigfoot as having large eyes and a large, low-set forehead. It is also reported to have a strong, unpleasant smell and enormous footprints. Bigfoot is believed to be omnivorous and mainly nocturnal. The scientific community considers Bigfoot to be a combination of folklore, misidentification, and hoaxes, rather than a real creature.

The Chupacabra

The legendary Chupacabra has puzzled zoologists for over 50 years. Stories of a strange beast drinking the blood of livestock were first reported in Puerto Rico in the 1950s. Since then, other sightings have been reported in Brazil, Chile, Mexico, and the U.S. Most eye-witnesses describe a beast that stands over one meter tall, which hops like a kangaroo on its hind legs. It is said to have leathery skin with long, sharp spines along its back. Witnesses also say that when alarmed, its red eyes glow and it gives off an unpleasant odor. Skeptics claim the Chupacabra is little more than a hoax or a mistaken identity, but others believe it actually exists.

The Loch Ness Monster

Thousands of people have reported seeing the Loch Ness Monster. This creature is said to live in the depths of the Scottish lake, Loch Ness, and supposedly resembles a dinosaur. The Loch Ness Monster first entered the public eye in 1933, when a newspaper published a full-page story about a couple who had been visiting Loch Ness and had seen a prehistoric animal with another animal in its mouth. Yet evidence of its existence is anecdotal, with minimal and much-disputed photographic material and sonar readings. The scientific community regards the Loch Ness Monster as a modern day myth, and explains sightings as a mix of pranks and wishful thinking.

1. F Many people think dragons are real.
2. T Bigfoot has mostly been seen in North America.
3. F Bigfoot looks similar to a goat.
4. F The Chupacabra attacks farm animals.
5. T The Loch Ness Monster is believed to live in a lake.
6. F Scientists think that the Loch Ness Monster is probably real.

- I A. What do you know about these mythical animals? Complete the sentences with the name of the right mythical beast.

Unicorns Pegasus Hydra The Sphinx Dragons

Hydra is a multi-headed serpent with blood and breath so poisonous that it could kill a man by simply blowing on him.

The Sphinx has the body of a lion and the head of a human.

Unicorns are depicted by most cultures as beautiful white horses with a long, spiraling horn extending from the forehead.

Dragons are depicted as large reptiles that spit fire or let out poisonous gases through their nostrils.

Pegasus is thought of as a beautiful winged horse.

B. Match and list the words that are associated with each mythical animal next to its name. Some words can be used with more than one or two animals.

multi-headed	riddles	poisonous	guardian	horse	invincible	terrifying gentle	mysterious	intellectual	horn	devour	purity	goodness
symbol	rainbow	winged	wise	courage	heroism	protector

Hydra invincible, terrifying, poisonous, devour

The Sphinx mysterious, intellectual, guardian, riddles

Unicorns gentle, horn, purity, goodness, rainbow

Pegasus winged, protector, goodness, purity

Dragons wise, terrifying, guardian

C. Choose one of the mythical animals and write sentences about it.

Hydra was a multi-headed creature that devoured anyone that came near her. Each of Hydra's heads seemed to have a will and a movement of its own.

J Study the pictures and write notes about what you already know about each animal. Use your notes to write sentences about the animals. Start your sentences with: It is said..., It is believed..., It is thought..., or other passive reporting verbs.

What I already know about...
elephants	Loyal, family-oriented, packs, support each other chimpanzees	Naughty, possessive, highly emotional, agile
bears	Dangerous when hungry, vicious when there are cubs

- Elephants are very loyal to their friends and family.
  - They can lift heavy weights with their trunks.
- Chimps are very sociable animals
  - Like most monkeys chimps like to eat fruit and nuts.

The Great White: The World's Most Dangerous Fish

The great white shark is one of the oldest living species on Earth—it existed 350 million years ago. It is the largest and the most dangerous predatory fish, and it is the most feared by humans. Great white sharks can grow up to 20 feet (6 meters) long and weigh up to 4,400 pounds (2,000 kilograms). They have about 3,000 teeth arranged in several rows. When the front teeth break or fall out, these teeth are replaced by others from the next row. A shark's hearing is very sensitive, and they can hear their prey from many miles away. They can also detect one part per million of blood in seawater.

1. Which is the world's most dangerous fish?

The great white shark.

2. How big can a great white shark grow?

up to 20 feet (or 6 meters).

3. How heavy can a great white shark become?

up to 4,400 pounds (or 2,000 kg).

4. Which of the six senses are the most sensitive for this animal?

The sense of sound and smell.

M Use some of the adjectives in the box below to write about another amazing animal.

Kohlberg's Theory of Moral Reasoning

A moral dilemma is a big problem or quandary that will have both positive and negative outcomes no matter what decision is made. Kohlberg's Theory of Moral Reasoning describes the development that people go through when making moral decisions. It has six sequential stages, meaning that they go in order, and that no stage is ever skipped. Kohlberg's theory is based on his research, which consisted of presenting the following Heinz Dilemma to his subjects and having them make a decision about what they would do:

A woman was near death from a special kind of cancer. There was one drug that the doctors thought might save her. It was a form of radium that a druggist in the same town had recently discovered. The drug was expensive to make, but the druggist was charging ten times what the drug cost him to produce. He paid $200 for the radium and charged $2,000 for a small dose of the drug. The sick woman's husband, Heinz, went to everyone he knew to borrow the money, but he could only get together about $1,000, which was half of what it cost. He told the druggist that his wife was dying and asked him to sell it cheaper or let him pay later. But the druggist said, "No, I discovered the drug and I'm going to make money from it." So Heinz got desperate and broke into the man's store to steal the drug for his wife. Should Heinz have broken into the laboratory to steal the drug for his wife? Why or why not?

In order to determine which stage of moral reasoning each person was in, Kohlberg would focus on how they supported the decision they made, rather than the decision itself. The stages are as follows:

Stage 1: Obedience In this stage, the focus is on avoiding punishment. The rules for right and wrong are determined by parents and teachers. Example answer: He should not steal the medicine because he will go to jail.

Stage 2: Self-Interest Subjects concentrate on their own needs and occasionally the needs of others. Fairness is present, but decisions are made based upon their own desires. Example answer: Heinz should steal the medicine because he will be happier if he saves his wife, even if he has to go to jail.

Stage 3: Conformity People in this stage will emphasize being nice or good to gain approval from others. Example answer: Heinz should steal the medicine because he wants to be a good husband.

Stage 4: Social Systems People in this stage define right and wrong by doing one's duty to society. They are concerned with showing respect for authority and maintaining social order for its own sake. Example answer: Heinz should steal the drug for his wife but also be punished for the crime. He should also pay the druggist what he is owed.

Stage 5: Human rights In this stage, subjects are concerned with human rights. They try to define moral values apart from the authority of the group. Example answer: Heinz should steal the medicine because everyone has a right to choose life, regardless of the law.

Stage 6: Universal Human Ethics In the final stage of moral development, subjects follow self-chosen ethical principles that are valid and applied universally. Example answer: Heinz should steal the medicine, because saving a human life is a more important value than the property rights of another person.

1. Read the Heinz dilemma. What would you do if you were Heinz? Why?

If I were Heinz, I would also probably try to steal the drug for my wife

2. Now read the stages again. Which stage of moral development are you in right now?

I think that I am in Stage 2: Self-Interest. I think it is more important that Heinz first saves his wife and worries about the consequences later.

I A. Read Carl's dilemma and answer the questions.

Carl was studying as his younger brother Sid played nearby. He had promised to keep an eye on his brother until their parents came back.

Suddenly, the phone rang; it was Mitch, Carl's best friend. Mitch wanted to come over and show Carl a new gadget that he had just bought. Carl looked at the time. He would have to get his brother ready for bed. This was all his idea. He had suggested that they stop using a baby-sitter as he could look after Sid. As expected, their father suggested that Carl get an additional allowance for his help.

Their parents were not due back for at least an hour. He needed about 20 minutes to feed Sid and then put him to bed, so that would probably leave another half hour if he didn't read a story to him. But without a story, Sid would probably refuse to go to sleep. He could, of course, give him that model car that he liked so much. It had small parts and it wasn't supposed to be safe, but Sid was very careful with things like that. A prized model car for a story...Was it a good deal? But he did want to see Mitch's new remote control for his game console. He was interested in using his extra allowance to buy one himself.

He decided to give the car to Sid. By the time he made up his mind, Mitch had arrived. Carl realized that he hadn't fed his brother. He asked Mitch to wait, went into the kitchen and warmed up some milk. He put some cookies on a plate and gave them to Sid. Sid took one sip of milk, dropped the cup on the carpet, and started crying. The milk was too hot. Mitch suggested they give Sid some ice cream to soothe him. So Sid had ice cream for dinner, and the model car. All was well.

When their parents returned, they found Mitch and Carl playing. They knew Mitch and were happy to see that Carl had company. They asked him if he'd fed Sid and put him to sleep.

Carl said he had. All of a sudden, they heard a choking sound from Sid's room and ran up stairs. Sid was sitting on his bed hanging onto the model car, choking on a part he had pulled off.

"Sid" said the mother. "It's all right, hang on. Why did you take Carl's car? I've told you not to."

1. What did the mother assume?
2. What was Carl's dilemma at that point?
3. Did Carl betray his parents' confidence in him? Why? Why not?
4. Did he betray his younger brother? Why? Why not?

1. She assumed that Sid had taken the car without telling Carl.
2. Whether he should tell his mother that he had given the model car to Sid himself.
3. He did, partly. He kept an eye on Sid and tried to feed him and then put him to bed but was not prepared to take the time needed
4. In Sid's eyes he probably didn't, because he had given him the car.

B. Read the story again and make notes on each event and its effect(s).

	Event / Cause	Outcome / Effect
1.	the phone rang	Carl wanted to see his friend's new gadget
2.	gave Sid milk	Sid dropped the cup on Carpet
3.	Carl gave him a model car	Sid choked on a small part

What would you have done? Do you think Carl made the right decision?

If you don't agree, what do you think he should/shouldn't have done? Why? Why not?

F A. Fill in the blanks with the correct words. Make changes to the form when necessary.

substance refer nutrition destroy yield notice test demonstrate Penicillin was originally (1) tested by a French medical student in 1896 and rediscovered by bacteriologist Alexander Fleming in London, in 1928. Fleming observed that colonies of bacteria adjacent to a blue-green mold in a culture were being (2) destroyed by the mold. He (3) demonstrated the mold by producing it in a pure culture and confirmed that it produced a substance that killed a number of bacteria. Having named the (4) substance penicillin, Dr. Fleming published the results of his research, pointing out that mass production of penicillin could have therapeutic value.

Penicillin's ability to kill infectious bacteria was not (5) noticed until 1939, when Dr. Florey and his colleagues began intensive research at Oxford University. They had to turn to the United States for help during the Second World War, as resources in Britain and Europe had been depleted. They were (6) referred to the Peoria lab, where scientists were already working on fungal cultures.

By 1941, Andrew J. Moyer, who specialized in the (7) nutrition of molds, found a way to increase the (8) yield of penicillin ten times. Clinical trials, in 1943, proved that penicillin was the most effective antibacterial agent to date. Production was increased to make sure it was available to treat wounded soldiers.

Four years after mass production began, it was discovered that microbes had developed a resistance to penicillin, so the production of different types of antibiotics was necessary.

B. Read the article and write what happened on the following dates. Use passive sentences.

1896 Penicillin was originally tested

1928 Penicillin was rediscovered

1939 Penicillin's ability to kill infectious bacteria was noticed

1941 the yield of penicillin was increased ten times.

1943 penicillin was proved the most effective antibacterial agent.

Why is it necessary for pharmaceutical companies to produce new antibiotics?

because microbes have developed a resistance to Penicillin.

Why are people advised not to abuse the use of antibiotics? What are the consequences when that happens?
